

ART AT THE ARNOLD

2010 Art at the Arnold Winners

COLUMBUS, Ohio – Three Central Ohio artists took top honors at the first Art at the Arnold drawing and painting competition as part of the Arnold Sports Festival.

First place went to Debra Joyce Dawson of Pataskala for her “Ballroom Dancing to the Matrix” a dance competition couple using the Matrix movie motif. The second place winner was Mary Newman of Delaware for “Proud Stance” a fencer’s portrait. Third place went to Fran Mangino of Westerville for “Anticipation,” a painting of a young gymnast waiting to perform.

Ballroom Dancing to the Matrix
by Debra Joyce Dawson

California Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger was to pick his favorite from among the entries but couldn't decide on only one. Actor Sylvester Stallone who also attended, helped with the selections which were: “Barbie Barbell, Arnold Expo Powerlifter” by Laura Worley of Powell, “Dancer in Red” by Mark Gingerich of West Jefferson, and “Bodybuilder” by Daryl Urig of Harrison, OH.

The two celebrities then purchased the paintings along with the first place painting by Dawson.

Proud Stance
by Mary Newman

Barbie Barbell, Arnold Expo Powerlifter
by Laura Worley

Dancer in Red
by Mark Gingerich

Bodybuilder
by Daryl Urig

Anticipation
by Fran Mangino